

"At Hennessy, Cognac is not improvised.
It is raised with kindness and attention, firmness and affection."

First, there is the grapevine. It yields Ugni Blanc, the light fruity grape specially suited to Hennessy Maison's double distillation in great copper stills. To ensure the aromas will be both excellent and varied, only eaux-de-vie from the four great crus of the region (Grande Champagne, Petite Champagne, Borderies and Fins Bois) are selected for the privilege of becoming great Hennessy cognacs.

In the Hennessy cellars, casks hewn from over 100-year-old oak trees, exclusively from French forests, stand in a dim light infused with heavy notes. A total of over 300,000 casks rest there. Hennessy is proud to have one of the largest reserve of cognac eaux-de-vie in the world.
