Left: Stephanie de Bouard-Rivoal, Executive Director of Angelus and Silver Bell
Right: Winery owner of Chateau Roc de Boisseaux

Producer: Boüard de Laforest family

Producer story: Chateau Angelus has one of the longest histories in the St. Emilion appellation. The de Bouard family has been in Bordeaux for more than 700 years. They arrived in St. Emilion in 1782.

Hubert de Bouard is currently in charge of managing the family directed property. Today, all the children participate in running the estate. In June, 2012, Stephanie de Bouard-Rivoal, the daughter of Hubert de Bouard was named executive manager of the estate. Silver Bell is made by Chateau Roc de Boisseaux and owned by Angelus's Bouard family. Hubert de Bouard is the wine making consultant of Silver Bell.

Tasting notes:

Nose: Complex and highlights black fruit berries with a hint of licorice and a light toasted touch.

Color: Beautiful dark ruby color, showing its ability to age long and well.

Palate: supple and mellow, has a refined texture with a great acidity level bringing some freshness. It is full and complex, with velvety ripe tannins. The finish is long, with freshness and polished tannins.

This is a great Saint-Emilion, with the right balance between complexity and finesse, that one will enjoy right now after a decent decantation or can alternatively cellar for a couple of years.

Wine Advocate 95: “The 2012 Angéus (55% Merlot, 45% Cabernet Franc) is inky bluish purple in color and exhibits blueberry and blackberry fruit intermixed with some licorice, charcoal and graphite. It is full-bodied, ripe, and a great, great success for this estate. The tannins are silky and soft, and the wine can be drunk now or over the next 15 or more years. Very tiny yields of 34 hectoliters per hectare rendered a wine with 14.5% alcohol.”
