

Spain's best-kept liquid gold

Wine Advocate 100 points fortified wines and fine & rare 100 year-old Brandy

"This traditional house produces superb wines that usually represent very good value too, and tend to fly under the radar."

Pérez Barquero

"Pérez Barquero is one of the greatest and most consistent wineries in the whole of Andalucía and they deserve a much higher recognition for their great wines."

The Wine Advocate

If Sherry is Cognac, Montilla-Moriles would very much be Armagnac. WineWorld team has in store for you a special opportunity to taste the wines and fine brandies of Perez Barquero, widely recognized as one of the flagship estates of this lesser-known yet historic region; and one of the rare few wineries that exports and works hard to put Montilla-Moriles on the wine map.

Located 150km away from much better-known coastal region of Sherry, inland region Montilla-Moriles is a specialist of Pedro Ximenez – which generally is known for giving extremely ageworthy, unctuously sweet wines; but in Montilla-Moriles, Pedro Ximenez bless this region with not just the former but also rich, rustic and opulent dry wines.

Join us for a pre-dinner masterclass tasting 6 wines from Perez Barquero, all 100% Pedro Ximenez with 5 dry and 1 sweet expressions; with one of them hailing from vintage 1955. Afterwards, enjoy some of the finest Spanish brandies with a sumptuous Chinese dinner at Le Pinnacle where we will end the evening with a sip of a 100-year-old Gran Reserva brandy.

Pérez Barquero Gran Barquero Fino NV

Wine Advocate 92: “The NV Fino Gran Barquero is aged 8-10 years under flor, pushing the limits of biological aging, which gives it a different profile: It is a big step up in quality, but it would probably be better with less filtration. It has a fresh, flowery nose hinting at some citric and even tropical fruits intermixed with the dry hay, straw, yeasty and chalky notes. It has the profile of a serious, first-class Fino that shows in a clean, pungent, balanced palate, with incisive flavors, supple and long. A good-value, great Fino that could develop some more complexity in bottle. Drink 2013-2016.”

Grape(s): 100% Pedro Ximénez

Style: Dry, Fortified Solera

Pérez Barquero Gran Barquero Amontillado NV

Wine Advocate 95: “The NV Amontillado Gran Barquero is an impressive 25-30 years old. It wears a dark amber robe and a subtle, elegant and focused nose. It’s an Amontillado of finesse, with biological, salty notes and roasted almonds, close to the Fino character. The palate shows a medium-bodied wine of a velvety texture, fine acidity and clean, focused flavors, It represents superb value for the quality it delivers. Drink 2013-2019.”

Pérez Barquero Solera 1955 Amontillado Cincuentenario NV (individual wooden case)

Wine Advocate 97: “The new range of very old wines, between the Gran Barquero/La Cañada range (25/30 years) and the Soleras Fundacionales (80/90 years), is released with the brand of the winery's 50th birth year; as such, it is called NV 1955 Amontillado Solera Cincuentenario, but they are not wines from 1955 - which is rather confusing. It is a 'solera' of blended vintages and therefore a non-vintage wine averaging perhaps 40-50 years of age. In any case, this is an extraordinary old Amontillado, with great balance between old age and elegance, making it very feminine (yeah, you can kill me now!), perfumed and subtle. The palate is very intense, deeply saline and long, tasty and elegant, with superb balance. They have taken 200 bottles in November 2015 and plan to do a further four sacas of approximately the same volume, and the front labels have both the information about the saca and the bottle number.”

Pérez Barquero Solera 1905 Pedro Ximénez Fundacional NV (individual wooden case)

Wine Advocate 98: “From the oldest soleras of the house, the NV 1905 Pedro Ximenez Solera Fundacional, could average around 80 years old. Pitch black, dense and almost solid, the fragrant aromatics offer scents of burnt sugar, toffee, petrol, bitter orange marmalade, and balsamic (mint). Very complex, velvety, and harmonious, with a long and balanced finish, this is one of the best PXs of Andalusia, and therefore among the greatest sweet wines in the world. Drink 2013-2030.”

Grape(s): 100% Pedro Ximénez
